Team Working and Progress Report

🔷 Team Leader's Reflection – Abdul-Wajid

As the team leader of this civic engagement project, I was responsible for organizing, planning, and managing the research process from beginning to end. My experience was both challenging and rewarding. I learned how to divide tasks according to individual strengths, communicate clearly with different stakeholders (including students, teachers, and institutional staff), and maintain consistency in deadlines.

At the start of our project timeline, I proposed that we begin the work early, during the month of Ramadan, to ensure we had more time later for refinement. However, after consulting with my team, I realized that most members preferred to begin the practical work after Eid due to spiritual and personal commitments. While it was initially a challenge to shift the schedule, I decided to go along with the team's preference to maintain unity and morale.

This decision turned out to be positive. After Eid, the entire team worked with great dedication and energy. Everyone completed their tasks on time, and we were able to meet all our deadlines — Alhamdulillah.

One of the most critical parts of my role was conducting in-depth interviews with senior education professionals including principals, HOD's, and special educators. I also ensured that our data was ethically collected, stored, and presented with accuracy and transparency.

Throughout the process, I faced situations that required problem-solving, such as dealing with low teacher response rates or scheduling team meetings. But these challenges enhanced my leadership skills and taught me the importance of flexibility, patience, and coordination. I also handled communication with our supervisor and made sure every update was reviewed and approved as needed.

Leading this project has strengthened my confidence and helped me grow both as a student and as a future professional.

🔷 Team Member Roles and Contributions

This project was the result of collective effort, mutual respect, and active participation from each team member. Everyone contributed meaningfully based on their strengths and availability. Below is a breakdown of individual roles and contributions:

Member	Role
Abdul-Wajid	Team Leader
Hassan Mustafa	Project Ideation, Survey Design, Video Recording
Maira Murtaza	Interview Conducting, Survey Design, Online Research
Muhammad Abdullah	Survey Design, Online Research
Abd-e-Moiz	Presentation Design

Muhammad Abu-Bakar	Interview Arrangement
Sania Rana	Interview Video Recording

👤 Abdul-Wajid

As the team leader, Abdul-Wajid was responsible for managing the project from start to finish. He supervised task distribution, monitored progress, ensured deadlines were met, and coordinated communication within the team. He also handled interviews with senior educators and finalized the structure and flow of the report.

👤 Hassan Mustafa

Hassan initially proposed the core idea for the project — focusing on the education system and its challenges. He also played a major role in designing the survey questions and helping record interview sessions, ensuring smooth technical execution.

👤 Maira Murtaza

Maira took a lead role in conducting face-to-face interviews with students and teachers. She also contributed to designing and translating the survey forms and helped gather background information through online research for the report.

👤 Muhammad Abdullah

Abdullah actively assisted in structuring the Google Form survey and contributed to literature review and fact-checking from reliable online sources.

Abd-e-Moiz

Moiz was responsible for preparing the PowerPoint or visual presentation. He converted report highlights into slide content and ensured the layout was visually clear, attractive, and informative.

Muhammad Umair

Umair took charge of editing recorded video interviews. He cleaned up the audio, added necessary titles or transitions, and prepared the final media files to be uploaded and shared via QR code.

Muhammad Abu-Bakar

Abu-Bakar coordinated the scheduling and logistics of physical interviews. He arranged meeting times with school staff and made sure that the sessions were conducted professionally and respectfully.

Sania Rana

Sania was responsible for recording interviews on-site. She ensured clear visuals and sound and documented the sessions as digital evidence for the report.

Team members review about Team Leader:

Following are the review of all team members about the team leader. I hope all of the guys must give the honest review about leader like How was the leader is? How he engage the team and what are the role of every member as their perspective.

🔷 Conclusion

The team worked collaboratively and supported each other throughout the research journey. Regular check-ins were held through WhatsApp and in-person meetings. Each member contributed not only to their specific role but also helped others when needed.

There was mutual respect, active listening, and a shared commitment to making the project meaningful and authentic. This teamwork experience not only helped us complete a successful report — it also taught us real-world civic engagement, problem-solving, and how to work across differences for a common goal.

The success of this project was possible due to consistent teamwork and mutual cooperation. Every member demonstrated accountability, flexibility, and commitment — allowing the group to meet its objectives and submit a meaningful report on time.
